“ Although your brother and I are no longer married, I still think of you as my “annoying little brother”. I have known you for almost 24 years so basically we all “grew up” together. There are 3 memories of you that I will NEVER forget:

1. The beach when you and your dad rented a kayak and you accidentally kept hitting him in the face with the par.
2. When Anthony told you that you were going to be an uncle and you got excited and asked when would we find out if you’re going to be an aunt or an uncle 😂 but the best one? Running that Honda rebel straight into your dads new truck because you wanted to do it your way and didn’t listen. You have been quite stubborn most of your life, but your love for my kiddos only grew stronger every day. You were an amazing uncle to them and they love and miss you very much like we ALL do! Please keep your arms around Tyler, Anna Brooke, Natalee, and Rylee as they have to learn how to live without you here physically. I’m very proud of you for the HARD WORK you had been doing on yourself lately and how far you had come during the past year. I love you Nathan, you were always good to all of us even though you didn’t have to be. I wish you could still be here to walk natalee down the aisle one day, to teach them how to drive...just so many things. We need you here, but obviously God needed you more! We will always love and miss you til the day we meet up with you again!

“ Our babies will forever miss you and I will not let them forget you! I will kiss them every night and tell them that you love them! Watch over our girls! I wish you could stay here on earth and help me with our girls but I know God must've needed you more! We may have went our separate ways but I was so happy for how far you came and that we were finally at peace with one another for our girls! We love you! One thing we did get right we made some beautiful and strong baby girls! Fly high!!!!

“ I love you and miss you so much Nathan. You brought joy to so many people. You were loved more than you ever knew. You may have left me here to play without you, but for you, I shall finish the game. Fly high and rest easy little brother. You will never be forgotten!
